

Go for the Gear

Impress all your friends that didn't get selected – get that official merchandise and add that Russian playing shirt to your collection! Loads of great gear at low, low prices – and so near as well! So get your asses (waiting to wear the latest Gaia shorts) down to the merchandise tent, just off the sand by the Koase!

Cleaning Service

PLAYERS UNIFORMS – uniforms to be washed can be handed in (for your whole team, not individually) at the SKG before 2 pm Mon-Fri and they will be available for the second round of games the following day.

Personals

I wonder who the cute blonde bloke is who's running around with a staff shirt and looking very important. I simply can't make myself talk to him – he seems so far-distant removed with his duties. If you have a little spare-time, look out for a short Swedish girl strolling around you.

To the GB master whose players card looks a bit like a bum (Better than most boyfriends we've had). We're looking to put some shine in those cheeks – love USA women.

Open player staying in City Hotel, seeks bright eyed girl to fill Room 23 (its currently a single). I'll be there if you visit me.

Way to make an impression !

The local football (soccer) club players, arrived to the Union stadium on Sunday for their regular training sessions. After watching Ultimate for much of the day, their reaction was interesting. In addition to being impressed at the athleticism and speed of the game, they were amazed at the fairness without referees.

„Koase“ – The Place to be!

Come to the „Koase“ in the Summer City if you want to get your information about the WUGC 2000, especially about the matches, the parties,...! Throughout the day the current edition of the [münchhausen] Newsletter will be available and you can read it to the music playing. Every day new videos (produced by Jan Baess, Jürgen Hauck and Jan Knuth) from WUGC 2000 will be shown at about 17:30 and 20:30 (before and after the Match of the Day). The „Koase“ is right behind field 1 and 2 and Union Stadium. Surrounding the Communications Oasis is the summer city where you can find different things to do, food to eat and beer or cocktails to drink. Come back if you find things a bit empty; everything is still being put together, as interesting things start to happen.

Water

There seems to be a problem here with the water supply on the fields. It was our intention to provide bottles of water to the fields that would then be returned by the teams to be filled again for later use. This is not working at all! Although we were glad to see the sun this morning it multiplied our problem of providing the volume of water required. In addition, the teams did not get the message that the bottles need to be returned and our bottles are almost gone. Our game strategy simply did not work - the players forced a turnover - and now each player needs to contribute to making this work! Please return ALL of the bottles that your team has the tournament registration office and we will give them back to you and provide your team with a isotonic mix that can be mixed with water to make a tasty well balanced sport drink for your team. This can only work if the teams return all of the bottles – thanks for your support.

Food

The „Schlachthof“ food option will be extended by one half hour to: 16.00 – 19.30 This will give the teams with a 17.00 game plenty of time to take the bus to the slaughter house and get plenty to eat. Please go straight to the food site after your game.

Japan gegen Holland

Das Weltmeisterschafts-Fieber infiziert jetzt schon die Heilbronner Bevölkerung! Besucher aus der Region füllten am Abend die Ränge des Stadions, als Japan ihre Führung im Pool 2 gegen das Team aus Holland festigten. Beide Teams konnten gegensätzlicher kaum wirken: Das japanische Team arbeitete sich mit präzisen flachen Würfeln über das Feld. Die Holländer hingegen punkteten vor allem mit hohen und riskanten Kunstwürfen. Fast noch beeindruckender als das Spiel auf dem Rasen aber war das Publikum. Angetrieben vom enthusiastischen Moderator feuerte es jeden Anwurf an, möglichst lange in der Luft in der Luft zu bleiben. Sie beklatschten jeden Overhead und jeden Dive. Die Japaner gewöhnten sich schneller an die Atmosphäre und erarbeiteten sich schnell einen Vorteil. Zur Halbzeit lagen die Holländer dann schon 8 zu 3 zurück. Die Japaner puschten sich bis ans Limit des Spielbaren. In dieser Phase des Spiels fiel vor allem der japanische Spieler #18 mit dem Stirnband auf. Zweimal hintereinander ergatterte er sich die Scheibe mit einem spektakulären Verteidigungssprung, nur um kurz danach den tödlichen Pass in die Endzone zu spielen. Das Publikum feuerte in dieser Zeit vor allem die Japaner an. Und diese wollten ihren taiwanesischen Kollegen aus Fernost in punkto Entertainment in nichts nachstehen. Nummer 1 der Japaner versuchte einen Salto in die Endzone, nachdem er die Scheibe gefangen hatte (von den Rängen kam nur ein schallendes: „No!“). Die Qualität des Spiels litt nicht unter diesen Showeinlagen – die Japaner erzielten den Punkt mit einem Kunstwurf in die hintere Ecke der Endzone. Die holländische Nummer 17 warf sich später eindrucksvoll nach der Scheibe – direkt vor die Füße der Österreicherinnen (wird es da noch eine Nachgeschichte geben? Wir hoffen auf eine ganze Menge an Einträgen in unsere Personals-Kolumne – die Reaktion der Österreicherinnen lässt einiges erhoffen!) Daraufhin riefen alle 26 Japaner im Chor: „Alles was ihr könnt, können wir besser!“ Ihre Nummer 12 versetzte sich erst bei einer Scheibe, drehte dann um und rettete sie in vollem Sprung knapp überm Boden. Kurz danach war es die Nummer 13, der die Zuschauer mit einem spektakulären Sprung von den Rängen riss. Dann drehte die holländische Nummer 21 richtig auf – aber auch er konnte mit seinem Handblock beim Matchpunkt nicht den 14:8-Sieg der Japaner verhindern. Dieses Spiel hat Maßstäbe gesetzt für die kommenden Spiele des Tages. Für das heutige Spiel der an 3 gesetzten US-Amerikaner gegen Gastgeber Deutschland darf man einiges erwarten. Beide Verbände trafen gestern schon im Juniorenklassement aufeinander. Die USA gingen am Ende als Sieger vom Platz – nachdem sie zu Beginn schon vier Punkte hinten gelegen hatten.

Match of the Day – Japan vs Netherlands

The championships have officially captured the imagination of the German public! Locals filled the Union stadium stand to see Japan strengthen their position at the top of pool 2 against the colourful Dutch team. Everything about the two teams seemed to contrast: Japan, from the other side of the world to Holland, using precise flat throws against the much taller side hammering their way to points.

While one cannot ignore the teams, the crowd seemed to steal the scene. Encouraged by the enthusiastic commentator, they seemed to keep every pull aloft with their clapping and cheering. They showed their appreciation for each hammer and layout, and by adapting more quickly to the atmosphere, Japan took an early advantage. This was converted into points, leaving the Dutch on 3 as halftime approached. Seeming desperate not to fall behind in the Far East entertainment stakes after Taiwan's opening ceremony antics, the compact Nippon team pushed themselves to the limit all game. Their attitude to Ultimate was shown spectacularly by the headband-wearing number 18 who,

Rising Sun downs Thorny Devils

Expecting to see a tightly contested game of contrasting styles and cultures, we went to check out Japan vs Australia in the Women's division on Field 8. The Australians came off a tough game against the USA (12-15) (having led 11-9), while the Japanese had accounted for the Netherlands (15-12). The small crowd were fascinated by the match-up, Australia were clearly taller, had 2 more brightly dyed red-heads and significantly ran a number of drills practicing their longer throws. Japan revealed little in their warm-up, but the volume of their war-cry like huddle indicated their intentions. Both teams were warmed up and raring to go, in perfect conditions.

The start of the game immediately set the pattern for the game. Japan showing clean handling, zippy cuts and short throws, Australia used their height and a number of 1-hand grabs under defensive pressure. 2-all without a turnover. The strong defence started to result in turnovers. Australia continued to try longer throws with varying success. Some fantastic grabs by one of Japan's more experienced players (#8) helped Japan take the initiative with controlled offence.

Despite defensive blocks from Viv (#57) and Sarah (#44), Australia couldn't convert their chances and found themselves down 5-8 at half time.

An Australian hammer that never quite grew wings and things looked like they were going Japan's way at 9-5. Some misunderstandings between the Japanese handlers were pounced on and the Australians stormed back to 9-8. A hand-block by Nicole (#19), Sarah skying in the end-zone for a point and what looked suspiciously like a German offence, ignited the game at 11-10 to Japan. A switch back to zone defence, failed to disturb the Japanese with a fantastic break throw and the 2 point lead looked important and was being discussed by the coaches on the sideline. But it was all immaterial. Japan's #17 put her personal stamp on the game, catching 2 goals and making a handblock, as Japan took it out 15-10.

For those who missed this game, the teams are set to do it all again in the open division, today at 17:00. Both teams recorded emphatic wins yesterday and are expecting a big clash, remembering that Japan finished second in 1998, after being defeated by Australia.

GB vs. Germany, Mixed, 15 - 4

Still disappointed after losing a tight opening game against the USA, the GB Mixed team were determined to make amends against the host nation. Both countries have brought strong, committed squads to the tournament. And as the sun baked the fields, both prepared for a long, hard game.

Right from the start, GB seemed to have the aggression they were looking to use to overcome Germany, a country which, in the last few years, have developed an unshakeable habit of beating GB teams, and from whom the British expected a very tough game. However, it looked for a while as if this aggression might run out of control. After taking an early lead thanks to some lively defence followed by quick scores, GB began to miss their chances to score and the patient German offence brought them back into the game.

Despite the fact that they were missing at least one key player, the Germans looked impressive throughout the first half, playing safe with the disc and moving steadily towards the zone. However, GB's desire to win was never more in evidence than when the team were defending their own goal line, and Germany were denied several crucial scoring chances by British pressure.

Sideline support was loud for both teams and the atmosphere was friendly but intense. By the time half came around, GB, having found the knack of scoring again, had an 8-3 lead and were making life very difficult for the home team. Jack Goolden layed out twice to block passes from increasingly nervous German handlers, whilst Suze Penfold and captain Jeff Jackson made important blocks at the other end of the field. Despite the lead GB were determined not to relax, and in the second half, the fun really started. Sammy Neilson and Sue Underwood arrived pitch-side direct from the World Disc Golf Championships and immediately made an impact, Sammy getting an interception, Sue cutting so quickly that two German women almost knocked each other out! Unbelievable scoring catches from Merrick Cardew and Jane Holmes increased the pressure yet more, and by the time Rob Mitchell started clattering into players from both teams in pursuit of the disc, with one unfortunate German player receiving the full force of Rob's ample buttock in his face, the game was slipping away.

In a game that was tight all the way, GB ran out 15 - 4 winners, but the German team were much better than the scoreline suggests. This GB team has the resolve to hang on to a lead and the desire and commitment to go far in this tournament, and were overjoyed at victory by a margin they had only dared to hope for. But the hosts also have the game and the strength throughout their squad to progress to the top eight. Rob Mitchell GB Mixed

GB vs USA Women

Possibly a contender for game of the day, this was always going to be close. What came surprised everyone, not least the players. GB came out strong with some very safe offence and pressure D to pull out to a 5-0 lead after one point lasted nearly 10 minutes. They kept the pressure on to take the half 8-1, leaving the USA wondering what to do.

They clearly sorted it out at half time as after trading a couple, they began to pull it back. First 9-5, then 10-7, and before you knew it, they were right back in the game with the score 11-10 to GB. The disappearance of the GB support (to warm up for their own following games) did not help them keep their heads up, while the USA vocalists just got louder and louder as their confidence grew.

The pressure was now really showing on both teams as the points became more important. USA managed to level the scores at 12 all and then kept going to take the lead for the first time and take game point 14-12. GB did not give up and pulled one back before USA took the game 15-13 just as time was over. Just time to mention the play of the game - Terri's layout blade grab from a D'ed endzone bound disc to keep GB alive. Steve Balls

Media Team: „Wir sind zufrieden, wenn Ihr informiert seid!“

Seit etwa einem halben Jahr läuft die Öffentlichkeitsarbeit im Media Team zur WUGC 2000 unter Federführung der Partner-Agentur xmedia (www.x-media.net). Noch nie wurden für eine Frisbee-Veranstaltung in Deutschland derartige Anstrengungen bei den Public Relations unternommen. Das Resultat wird in diesen ersten Tagen von Heilbronn 2000 sichtbar: Etwa 50 Journalisten von über 25 Fernseh- und Radiostationen oder Zeitungen aus der ganzen Welt haben ihre Berichterstattung angekündigt. Bereits bei der Opening Ceremonie am Samstag waren allein vier verschiedene Kamerateams im Union-Stadion. So sendet beispielsweise RTL2 in den News am heutigen Sonntag um 20 Uhr einen Beitrag über die Eröffnungsfest und das weitere Rahmenprogramm. Ebenso werden ZDF, PRO7 und B-TV berichten, allerdings stehen die Sendetermine im Moment noch nicht fest. Wie schon auf unserer Homepage (www.wuc2000.org) angekündigt, reist am Freitag ein Team der Sendung „stoke“ im Deutschen Sportfernsehen (DSF) an, um einen halbstündigen Beitrag zu produzieren (Sendetermin: 26. August 2000, 15.15 – 15.45 Uhr). Etwas außerhalb deutscher Satellitenschüsseln wird der Beitrag von „worldsports.com“ laufen, der von einem Kamerateam aus China produziert wird.

Eine besondere Stellung haben aber die beiden Medienpartner „Hit-Radio Antenne 1“ und „Heilbronner Stimme“ bei der Berichterstattung über die WUGC. Sie werden mit der größten Regelmäßigkeit über die Spiele und das Rahmenprogramm berichten. Wer also einen Blick über den [münchhausen] hinaus bekommen will, schaltet sein Radio auf der Frequenz FM 89,1 MHz oder kauft sich an einem Kiosk oder sonst wo die „Heilbronner Stimme“. Selbstverständlich sind auch viele Informationen in den Internet-Angeboten unter www.antenne1.de und www.stimme.de abrufbar, was ja ohne größere Probleme im Internet-Café auf der Trendsportmeile machbar ist.

Damit sowohl die Spielerinnen und Spieler als auch alle Medien umfassend versorgt werden können, arbeitet das Media-Team rund um die Uhr auf Hochtouren. Ein Produkt dieser Arbeit kann man mit [münchhausen] tagtäglich in den Händen halten, wenn man den kurzen Weg in die Koase auf sich nimmt. Alle anderen wichtigen Infos erhalten die Journalisten auf den täglichen Pressekonferenzen um 18 Uhr in der VIP-Lounge oder von Mitarbeitern des Media Teams direkt. Wie die gesamte Staff arbeitet auch das Media Team ständig an der Grenze der Belastbarkeit, deswegen freuen wir uns über jede Unterstützung von Euch.

WUGC in the Media!

For about half a year now, the public relations for the WUGC have run under supervision of the agency xmedia (www.x-media.net). Never before have similar PR efforts been made for a Frisbee-Event in Germany. The result is visible in Heilbronn this week around 50 local and international journalists from over 25 Papers, TV and Radio stations. The opening on Saturday was covered by 4 camera teams and a national TV news program reported on the celebrations and event last night. Other reports are being made, including one for „worldsports.com“ being produced by a Chinese camera team. Details about future programs will be updated on our website (www.wuc2000.org). Local media partners „Hit-Radio Antenne 1“ and the „Heilbronner Stimme“ are regularly reporting and advertising what's happening here. Hopefully the [münchhausen] is also playing its part, since players and visitors alike will find it in the Koase (look for the party tent, near the trendsportmeile). Daily press conferences are held at 6pm in the VIP Lounge or press can access the Media team directly for information. Thanks to all the players and organisers who have helped Journalists and supported the Media team.

Japan vs Netherlands

(page 1) ...after laying out in defence then sending the scoring pass moments later, proceeded to produce a carbon copy for the next point.

The crowd began to favour the athletic Japanese, and in response the players put on a show for them. After half time, the number 1 appealed to the crowd after trying to flip his feet into the end zone after a catch (the crowds answer: a resounding „No!“). This showmanship did nothing to decrease the skills on show – that point was ended by a scuba into the far corner.

The Dutch 17 replied by laying out impressively at the feet of the Austrian women (judging by the girls reaction, we're expecting a sack load of entries in the personal column next issue). Anything you can do, we can do better, cried the Japanese (all 26 of them) as first number 12 turned a misread chase into a stunning over-the-shoulder layout, then number 13 raising the crowd to its feet with, you've guessed it, another layout!

Despite valiant attempts by the Dutch 21, including a notable hand block on match point, the Japanese finished by winning the match, 15 – 8, and the hearts of the crowd.

This game has surely set a precedent for future Match of the Day contests, with both great atmosphere and play. We wait expectantly for home favourites Germany vs the 3rd seeded USA today. The same teams met in the Junior Open division yesterday, with the USA eventually running out winners 15 – 13, after being behind by 4 points early in the game and 2 at halftime. See you all there!

Personals

A desperate male score keeper is looking for some cosy female to ease his pains (his girlfriend left him on his birthday, his car broke down, he was stung by a bee today). If any woman wants to help this boy over his heartbreaks you can meet him at the fields 11/12 tomorrow. Just in case you see him in company with a blonde – don't worry, it's just his sister!

Mixed Division: Canada 14 – Finland 10

The Canadian and Finnish Mixed game was tight throughout with strong defensive play on both sides. There were a number of calls in the game and some took quite a while to resolve. The first of these was on a Canadian throw into the end zone where both the thrower and receiver called fouls. A number of players on both sides entered the discussion, but it was discovered that the Finnish defender in the end zone was not contesting the call, so the disc went to the receiver on the goal line. Another long discussion happened later in the game when a Finnish offensive player was fouled away from the play on an incomplete pass. The Canadians played three passes, the last into the endzone, before realizing that a foul had been called. The discussion eventually ended in the disc going back to the first Canadian thrower, which seemed like the right call. These long discussions seemed to be due primarily to lack of communication, whether this was due to a language barrier or players not hearing the calls wasn't clear. Game highlights included layout d-blocks by Tom, Paul, Erin, and Mitch for the Canadians. Indeed, Mitch got his two on the same point. Finland's number 5, Juhana Oivio, stood out on offense – he seemed to be able to get open whenever he wanted. He also intercepted at least one pass toward the end of the game when the Finns were making their last efforts to get back into the game. The game ended on a bit of a controversy as it was called at the 100 minute time cap with Canada ahead 14 – 10. The Finnish captain expected the game to go into hard cap to 16, but there was some dispute on this. After some discussion, the score stood, but it was later discovered that the Finnish captain was indeed correct.

The quote of the game came from one of the Canadians who said: „they look like they're swearing at us in their own language“. – JCH

Party Team: Spain

The Spanish team danced and partied with so much enthusiasm at the Opening Party that we decided to award them with the title „Party Team of the Night“. They were crowned with „Party-King-Crowns“ in the K-Oase today. I spoke with Tino, Tim and Oscar about Ultimate, Party, the World Cup and Germany in general.

Looking at such a Party Team makes you wonder how participation in the WUGC and Full-Party-Power can go together. The guys say both are possible. Their aim at Worlds is to get better at Ultimate and to have fun.

About the WUGC: They're happy that their first Worlds are taking place in Germany, because a location outside of Europe would have been too expensive.

About Germany: Firstly, German Beer is number one! Maria-José's says that Germans are well organized and especially in the South, people are open-minded and friendly. They think that the Germans are also party people. And the girls are nice, pretty and more emancipated than the Spanish. In Oscar's opinion this has its good and bad points: they lose innocence and romance, which is very important for the Spanish men but they're more open-minded and it's easier to make contact or whatever. For example, the German girls often live alone while Spanish girls live with their fathers, brothers etc. (editors note: All Spanish guys are macho men!)

About their team: Their Open Division is the only open team with women playing and their team comes from Barcelona, the Canary Islands, Madrid and others. Their caps are typical caps from the Basque region and they brought typical sausages, WINE, cheese... it's representing tradition in a slight ironic way. They sleep in tents and they also brought a pavilion tent where there is always 20 Spaniards ready to party.

About Ultimate: Ultimate in Germany is strong because it comes from universities and university sport in Germany is very big. It is not well known because of the minimal presence in the media. Players are not sad about that, they even fear losing their philosophy through involvement with the mass media.

About Party: „The Party yesterday was very good. We want to get to know the Rasta-Percussion group (hahaha). The singer of the band partied with the people instead of for the people. After the Gig we drank a beer with him. We're looking forward to the Caribbean Beach Party taking place on Tuesday in Block E. But even if there's no party planned, we will make our own: we have our Spanish wine and German beer and want everybody to come at our Pavilion Tent at field 5/6. Party with us and have fun!“

Of course the crowning ceremony in the K-Oase also had a party-feeling with rock music and mugs of beer. They lounged on sofas instead of a throne but surely had more fun than the Queen. What they think about the K-Oase: „It's good, there's information and it's a meeting point for all players. After the crowning Miguel and Albert even became Supermen: in the bungee trampoline they could fly even higher than normal.“

Ultimate España

There is not a very long history of disc sports in Spain. Most Spaniards think of a Frisbee® as „that plastic thing you bring to the beach“. When you mention Ultimate as a sport, they say „Que?“ Though there are only about 70 ultimate players currently playing in Spain, it seems that Spanish Ultimate is finally getting off the ground. This is the first year that a Spanish Team is competing at a World level and players have come together from Barcelona, Madrid, and Gran Canaria to form the team.

The history of Spanish ultimate starts about 5 years ago when a group of people started playing in Las Palmas de Gran Canaria, Canary Islands, eventually taking the name of Pío Pío. Within 2 months they went to France to participate in the European championships. But since then, only a few players have been able to travel to tournaments – they are closer to Africa than they are to mainland Spain. Still, over the years they've continued to play with the spirit that typifies Ultimate and have grown to approximately 15 players. They hosted their first beach hat tournament in March 2000 which gave all the Canary players a chance to play in a tournament and left everybody else begging for it to be repeated annually.

Independently, Barcelona's Patatas Bravas began playing in the winter of 1998 when the Ultimate gods conspired to bring several players together who had all played in other places. After realizing that nobody would get up before 1 pm on a weekend, practices were moved to late afternoon and several Ultimate addicts were created. Since then, the Patatas Bravas have participated in tournaments in Germany, France, Switzerland, Italy and Portugal. The team currently has 25 players and is comprised of „Catalan/Spanish and“ foreign players. I guess Ultimate is still a bit of a beach thing in Spain because both Pío Pío and the Bravas practice on the beach, bare foot, all the time. The sun in Spain is great, but one of the drawbacks is its effect on grass fields! The Bravas also organize a beach hat tournament that was first hosted in the fall of 1998 and has since become the infamous last European Outdoor tournament of the year. They're working on bringing in more women and getting a juniors team started at a local school to try to raise interest and ensure that Ultimate will continue.

The Internet age helped contribute to the formation of Los Quijotes from Madrid. They began playing in December of last year after several requests came to the Bravas and Eurodisc mailing lists requesting information about ultimate in Madrid. With 6 names to start with, things seemed to take off when Juan Carlos, a Madrileño who had learned to play ultimate while studying in England, took charge of motivating and organizing. They have not yet participated in any tournaments and are still in the tenuous stages of team formation since many members of the initial group have moved out of Madrid, including Juan Carlos. Hopefully things will keep moving and we'll see more ultimate from them in the future.

Finally, and most recently, a team was started in Tenerife, another of the Canary Islands. A lone flying Italian initiated a university ultimate course last spring in which a group of about 15 students participated. The first real competition between two Spanish teams has also evolved out of this effort with the 2 Canary Island teams traveling to play against each other a few times and a final competition organized at the end of the course. The University de La Laguna, where they also have the luxury of grass fields, will offer a year-long course again in the upcoming academic year. It looks like a lot is happening quickly with Ultimate in Tenerife!

The Spanish team at WUGC 2000 is comprised of 4 players from Gran Canaria, 1 player from Madrid, and 14 players from Barcelona. With so few players in the entire country, the selection process essentially boiled down to those who were interested, eligible, could afford it, and were willing to commit to playing and having fun. Maybe not the most stringent criteria, but hey, it's a start! There are 3 women playing with the team since there are not enough women (yet) to form a mixed or women's team. Since this is the first time Spain is participating, we really don't know what to expect. Our main goal is to have as much fun as possible and to play as hard as we can. Apart from that, we want to find out what diving on the grass is all about, see how fast we can run when not in 15 centimeters of sand, and see if it's possible to avoid blisters with those cleats we're supposed to wear. No matter what, we're all ready and really excited to be here! Kaleen Moriarty, Team España

Opening Party

Wer einchecken oder ein Meeting halten mußte, konnte sich ärgern: die Opening Party im Anschluss an die offizielle Eröffnungszeremonie war unspektakulär aber mit guter Musik, Stimmung und (lockerer) Atmosphäre ein softer Einstieg in die Weltmeisterschaft. Den Auftakt bildete die Band „Kyzon“ mit diversen Cover-Versionen bekannter Rockbands. Das Stimmungsbarometer stieg im Anschluß: Die „Fisherman's Walkband“ ließ mit Salsarhythmen und Latin Rock alle Beine zucken. Durch den nahen Publikumskontakt entstand eine gemeinschaftliche Partyatmosphäre. An dieser Stelle sind die Spanier zu erwähnen: sie tanzten und feierten mit unglaublichem Enthusiasmus bis zum letzten Lied. Nach der Fisherman's Walkband wurde der Abend von Hitradio Antenne 1 – DJs begleitet. Für ihren aufreibenden Einsatz im Sinne gruppenspezifischer Feierlichkeiten verlieh Ihnen das Media-Team von [münchhausen] die Partykrone.
